Economic growth projected to continue, report finds

According to the Greater Oklahoma City Chamber’s 2019 Economic Forecast, the Oklahoma City metro economy is expected to continue its growth after a healthy year in 2018. Positive Oklahoma City metro job growth in 2019 is expected to increase by 2.1 percent or 13,600 jobs. However, a modest slowdown in activity could be forthcoming and the state and local economies are vulnerable to national uncertainties. If national conditions weaken in the second half of 2019, this could result in a noticeable drag on local and state forecasted growth.

Strong economic conditions at both the national and state levels helped to bring about a second consecutive year of positive job growth in the metro in 2018. Overall nonfarm annual job growth was 2.5 percent or 15,900

Chamber releases 2019 legislative agenda

The Chamber recently released its playbook for the public policy priorities it will pursue at the Oklahoma State Capitol. Below is an excerpt of the key priorities. Read the full list at OKCChamber.com/legislative.

County Government Reform

The Chamber supports legislation and/or an Initiative Petition to empower Oklahoma counties to alter their form of governance to meet their unique needs.

Workers’ Comp Reform

The Chamber supports defending and improving the comprehensive workers’ compensation reform legislation passed by the legislature and signed by the governor during the 2013 session.

Economic Development Programs

The Chamber supports retaining the state’s premier economic/community development programs which are critical in attracting new businesses to the state, assisting existing companies expand and encouraging investment in communities across the state. Following are the key programs the Chamber will work to protect:

- Quality Jobs Act, 21st Century QJA, Small Employer QJA and the Prime Contractor QJA
- Aerospace Engineer Tax Credit
- Investment/New Jobs Tax Credit
- Historical Building Rehabilitation Tax Credit

The largest percentage year-over-year job gains were found in the Oil & Gas (+12.7 percent), Administrative Support (+8.6 percent), Leisure Services (+5.0 percent), Wholesale Trade (+4.2 percent), Manufacturing (+3.3 percent) and Professional & Business Services (+2.8 percent) sectors.

The Oklahoma City metro ended 2018 with an annual average unemployment rate for the year just above three percent (3.3 percent), with monthly unemployment rates ranging as low as 2.6 percent and as high 3.8 percent. Oklahoma City finished out the year ranked among the lowest ten unemployment rates for large metros (over 1 million population). November 2018 brought about the lowest monthly unemployment rate (2.6 percent) the Oklahoma City metro had experienced in nearly eighteen years.

As a contrast, it is important to see how area population growth helps to offset low unemployment and increase total labor force. Population continues to be an impressive story for Oklahoma City. When official 2018 U.S. Census population figures are released, it will show that the Oklahoma City metro population has now grown to be 1.4 million. By 2020, the metro is expected to have added nearly 200,000 people over the past decade. Since 2005, the Oklahoma City metro has averaged a 1.5 percent annual growth rate, nearly double that of the nation. If the region is able to sustain that growth rate, it will reach 2 million in population by the year 2040.

Following national trends, urbanization continues to benefit the two largest metros in the state. This is specifically seen in looking at how much of the state’s economy and growth can be attributed to the Oklahoma City and Tulsa metros. Combined, Oklahoma City and Tulsa MSAs now account for 70 percent of the state’s GDP, 66 percent of personal income, and 60 percent of total population (or $7 out of every $10 of goods & services, two out of every three dollars of personal income and three out of every five people).

Job Growth from Chamber-Assisted Companies

2018 brought about the third year of a five-year economic development program called Forward Oklahoma City V. This is the fifth iteration of the Forward campaign that has provided longer-term strategic planning to the region’s economic development initiatives over the past twenty years. Since 2017, 15,390 jobs with payroll in excess of $700 million and $958 million in capital investment has been announced by Chamber-assisted companies. As part of that program, overall metrics are tracked for Chamber-assisted companies in a number of different areas: new start-up companies assisted, job growth from existing companies as well as new-to-market firms, wages, capital investment and growth in the tax base. In 2018, Chamber-assisted companies announced plans for the creation of 7,380 jobs with an annual average salary of $47,086. In addition, those same companies announced more than $496 million in capital investment. The Greater Oklahoma City Chamber ended 2018 with 74 active projects in its economic development pipeline. The pipeline tracks companies or projects that are potentially looking to relocate or expand in the Greater Oklahoma City region. The largest number of projects by facility type included Manufacturing, Distribution, Office/Shared-Services, and Aviation.

The 2019 Economic Forecast will be released on Feb. 14. Read the publication at that time at OKCCChamber.com/forecast.
Leadership Notes

The heart of our community

Last month I received a letter from a family who had recently visited Oklahoma City from Arizona. The Magdaleno family was traveling on I-44 at 3:30 a.m. when their horse trailer disconnected from their truck, causing a major accident.

Thankfully, no one was injured and Oklahoma City residents were able to do what they do best: take care of people. The letter from the Magdaleno family described the compassion and care they felt from the first responders, including the Rescue Ladder 14 team. They told me about how staff from the National Reining Horse Association brought veterinarians to the scene to care for their horses and how a business owner located a horse trailer that allowed the Magdalenos to safely transport their horses back to Arizona.

The Magdalenos closed their letter thanking our community for its generosity and goodwill, and I want to echo their gratitude. Whether you call it loving your neighbor or the Oklahoma Standard, our community shines brightest when we show compassion for other people. Kindness is at the heart of our community and I hope we will continue to keep that tradition moving forward.

Sincerely,

Feature on GreaterOklahomaCity.com highlights OKC foodie scene

OKC’s renaissance has been fertile turf for ambition; one result is redefining the restaurant arena. Oklahoma City isn’t a fly-over city — it’s a food destination. The Chamber’s newest feature story on GreaterOklahomaCity.com is helping tell that story as it chronicles Oklahoma City’s development as a cuisine capital.

“Food City,” which can be read at GreaterOklahomaCity.com/yum, details what diners can expect when feasting on all that Oklahoma City restaurateurs have to offer, starting with a tour of Oklahoma City’s districts. From one of Oklahoma City’s first food districts, the Historic Farmers Public Market founded in 1928, all the way to the newer redevelopments of the Plaza, Paseo and Uptown districts, each area’s distinctive flavor is highlighted. The feature story also dives into the influence that global cuisine traditions have had on the Oklahoma City food scene.

“Food City” is one of three featured stories on GreaterOklahomaCity.com with the goal of capturing the region’s ongoing renaissance. “A River’s Rise” chronicles the redevelopment of the Oklahoma River and “Brilliant: Soaring Science from a Rising Bio Campus” shows how companies in Oklahoma City are pushing the boundaries in the world of biotech. All three stories, which are housed under the resources section of GreaterOklahomaCity.com, have a goal of sharing Greater Oklahoma City’s story with a broader audience.
Currently, the Oklahoma City Public School district's facilities are operating at about 60 percent of capacity and the district faces $11 million in reduced state funding over the next two years based on projected enrollment declines. With those realities in mind, the district is undertaking an important reenvisioning of its future with their Pathway to Greatness Project. The Project is the district’s next step in aligning its resources to provide equitable learning opportunities for all students.

After a thorough assessment of the district’s facilities, a detailed demographic study, input from staff and stakeholders, and multiple community meetings, the district now has three potential solutions that will help invest more in each individual student. At the February Chamber Forum, attendees will hear about the proposed paths, all of which include increased access to learning opportunities, better support for teachers, added social support for students, and more resources for students.

Individual tickets for this event, which is on Feb. 20 from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Vast, are $35 for Chamber members and $55 for nonmembers. Half-season series ticket packages are also still available. Reserve your seat to five luncheons for $150. Learn more at OKCChamber.com/pathway.

New event offers networking, resources for small businesses

To help you strengthen your business, the Chamber is launching a new event on the first Friday of the month starting in March. Enlighten, a lunch-and-learn event that is part of the Business University suite of programming, will provide small business networking and education resources exclusively to Chamber member businesses. Event topics will offer easily applicable and timely tips for small business owners and managers, including ways to finance a business expansion, things to consider before filing your taxes, marketing your small business and more.

In March, attendees will learn how to build an effective employee benefits program. The event will be held at Walker Terrace, 1300 N Walker Ave., on March 1 from noon to 1 p.m. A $25 ticket includes a boxed lunch. Seating is very limited, so register at OKCChamber.com/events to ensure you have a seat. Special thanks to Signature Sponsor MassMutual Oklahoma.
Save your spot for D.C. Visit on May 1-2

Decisions made in our nation’s capital have a significant impact on our businesses and our community. From regulation and infrastructure development to investments in our nation’s defense, Oklahoma City – and our companies – feel the consequences of choices made there.

Join the Chamber and local leaders on a two-day trip to Washington, D.C., May 1-2, to advocate for pro-business legislation in the nation’s capital. The annual event includes personal briefings with Oklahoma’s U.S. senators and congressmen and a reception on Capitol Hill with federal officials and defense leaders. On the second day, sessions will cover specific topics of interest on issues critical to our community. Cost is $800 per person and includes one night’s lodging at The Intercontinental Washington D.C. - The Wharf, 801 Wharf Street NW, and all affiliated events. Visit OKCChamber.com/dc to reserve your spot. Special thanks to Signature Sponsor American Fidelity Assurance Company.

- Freeport (Inventory) Exemption
- Five-year ad valorem abatement and sales tax exemption for manufacturing facilities
- Oklahoma Regional Home Office Insurance Premium Tax Credit

The Chamber will also pursue legislation to enact or modify an incentive to address the statewide shortage of software engineers and work to protect the Energy Efficient Homes Tax Credit.

Gun Legislation

The Chamber is fully supportive of the Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and the responsible expansion of gun owners’ rights in Oklahoma. However, the Chamber will oppose legislation that would allow open/concealed carry of guns into high-economic impact events, including horse shows, the Oklahoma State Fair, Olympic-qualifying events on the Oklahoma River, high school basketball and wrestling tournaments at the State Fairgrounds and NCAA and Big XII sporting events (including the Women's College World Series, college baseball at Bricktown Ballpark and NCAA and Big XII basketball tournaments).

The Chamber will also oppose legislation that would allow guns to be carried on college campuses, limit a business owner’s rights to prohibit weapons or allow guns to be carried by individuals who haven’t been tested/trained and do not have a permit.

The Chamber will lead and support the efforts of the Oklahomans for Business and Property Owners’ Rights coalition to defend against harmful gun legislation.

Criminal Justice/Sentencing Reform

The Chamber supports legislation and funding for sentencing reforms and rehabilitation programs to ease the financial drain on Oklahoma’s criminal justice system, lessen the burden on jails and prisons throughout the state and allow non-violent offenders to enter the workforce more quickly.

The Chamber supports the efforts of the Criminal Justice Reclassification Council created pursuant to HB 1098 (2018) and the Task Force on Fines Fees and Costs created pursuant to SB 342 (2017) to review and recommend changes to the Oklahoma criminal code to reduce the state’s prison population.

The Chamber supports the Oklahomans for Criminal Justice Reform Policy Agenda to: 1) continue smart sentencing reform; 2) improve bail and jail practices; 3) improve fairness in the pretrial and jury trial process; 4) improve family connections for incarcerated Oklahomans; 5) make reentry and supervision improvements that reduce fines and fees, enhance workforce opportunities and increase public safety; 6) secure treatment funding; 7) better inform future policymaking and oversight; and 8) improve collection and release of data related to courts, jails, policing and prisons.

The Chamber supports legislation to increase the fines/penalties for the possession and/or use of credit card skimming devices.

Oklahoma County Criminal Justice Reform Advisory Council

The Chamber supports the work of the Oklahoma County Criminal Justice Reform Advisory Council, an inter-local government council, designed to institutionalize cooperation and planning for the criminal justice system in Oklahoma County.

Medical Marijuana

The Chamber supports legislation to protect an employer’s right to maintain a drug-free workplace and to enforce policies to prohibit employee impairment during work hours.

Early Childhood Education

The Chamber steadfastly supports early childhood education and full funding of pre-K and kindergarten programs. Targeted spending on our youngest children is simply a smart investment. The Chamber supports legislative initiatives to maintain early childhood education programs and initiatives.

Long-Term, Strategic Education Funding

The Chamber supports development of a long-term, strategic plan that will enable improvement in classroom teaching and academic performance. We encourage development of detailed legislation that will address the teacher shortage by rewarding teacher performance and experience or incentivizes teachers to work in high priority areas.

Teacher Preparation, Recruitment and Retention

Oklahoma and the nation have a teacher shortage. Oklahoma’s teacher preparation system needs to be improved in order to train, attract and retain high-quality teachers. We support the review/revision of policies/laws to improve the recruitment and retention of high-quality teachers. This includes support of other alternative pathways, such as Teach for America, that enhance the diversity and skill sets in the teaching profession.

Health Insurance Coverage for Oklahomans

The Chamber supports extending health insurance coverage to more Oklahoma residents through pursuit of all available funds to cover the costs of uncompensated care that are currently shifted to employers and health care providers.

The Chamber further supports broadening Insure Oklahoma to provide health insurance coverage to more of the state’s uninsured.

Major Transportation Projects

The Chamber will advocate for full funding and timely completion of work on major interchanges located at I-44/Broadway Extension and I-240/I-35 (Crossroads), as well as the following major projects: I-40 corridor east of I-35 (Tinker Air Force Base) including expansion of I-40 facility to six lanes; necessary improvements to State Highway 74 (north of Lake Hefner Parkway); and future development of I-44 corridor to provide for future mobility needs due to commercial expansion.

OKDOT Eight-Year Plan

The Chamber supports providing adequate annual dedicated funding necessary to preserve and implement OKDOT’s eight-year construction work plan. Furthermore, the Chamber will strongly oppose any effort to divert dedicated transportation funding to other areas of government.

State Bridge Improvement Plan

The Chamber supports providing adequate annual dedicated funding to implement the Oklahoma Department of Transportation’s (OKDOT) Bridge Improvement Plan to repair or replace all of Oklahoma’s structurally deficient bridges on the state’s highway system by 2020 and further ensure that OKDOT is able to maintain a nationally leading bridge improvement program.

Speak up for businesses this legislative session

During the 2019 legislative session, the Chamber will actively lobby on behalf of the business community to improve economic development and quality of life in Greater Oklahoma City—but the Chamber can’t act on its own. The Chamber also relies on its members to engage with legislators and help move the agenda of Oklahoma City’s growth forward.

In order to help you fully maximize your impact on the political process, the Chamber’s advocacy website, OKCBusinessAdvocate.com, allows you to easily identify your elected officials and the most effective ways to communicate with them. The site also contains the Chamber’s public policy priorities and updates on the progress of the Chamber’s lobbying efforts at the Capitol.

Throughout the legislative session, Chamber members can opt to receive “The Business Advocate” — an email newsletter featuring timely updates on the status of priority legislative issues. The Chamber also encourages business leaders to act as a grassroots advocate for issues that are important to the economic stability of the region.

Ways to speak up for your business:

- Contact your elected officials and leaders at the state Capitol by phone, email, letter or an in-person visit. You can find contact information for all elected officials in the 2019 Public Policy Guide at OKCChamber.com/ppg.

- Stay informed on the issues. Visit OKCBusinessAdvocate.com to learn more about issues that will impact Oklahoma City businesses and sign up for “The Business Advocate” newsletter at that link.

- Connect with the community. The Chamber’s events throughout the year are the perfect way to stay informed on the issues facing Oklahoma City while meeting legislators and other business leaders.

For more information about the Chamber’s advocacy efforts or the Business Advocacy Center, contact Derek Sparks, government relations manager, at dsparks@okcchamber.com or 297-8933.
Chamber resources headed your way

The Chamber’s annual membership mailing will arrive in your mailbox later this month. This resources packet, which is exclusive to Chamber members, includes the 2019 Public Policy Guide, the 2018 Annual Report, a 2019 membership plaque sticker or insert and an envelope of coupons and discounts from Chamber members.

The Public Policy Guide includes the Chamber’s 2019 legislative agenda, information about the Greater OKC Chamber Political Action Committee, the 2018 RIED and OKC scores, and contact information for federal, state and local elected officials. Also included is the 2018 Annual Report, which recaps the Chamber’s accomplishments from last year.

The annual membership mailing will also include a flyer with more information about the Chamber’s Greater Choice Oklahoma health care plan, which is available to members with two to 50 employees. The coupons will allow Chamber members to enjoy valuable gifts from several Greater Oklahoma City Chamber member companies in 2019, including American Banjo Museum, Oklahoma City National Memorial & Museum, Oklahoma State Fair, Inc., RIVERSPORT Adventure Parks and YMCA of Greater Oklahoma City. Exhibit at the Chamber’s first State of Health Event

The Greater Oklahoma City Chamber is launching a new event in 2019 and its members have a chance to be a part of it. The State of Health event, scheduled for May 13 at the Cox Convention Center, 1 Myriad Gardens, will highlight the successes and opportunities surrounding the health care landscape across the Greater Oklahoma City region. Public, private and nonprofit leaders will also discuss community wellness initiatives, health care industries and opportunities for growth.

For $300, Chamber members can exhibit at the event and connect with more than 500 corporate, city and state leaders who are interested in the region’s health care industry. Corporate and small business sponsorship opportunities are still available for $3,000 and $300, respectively. The small business sponsorship is limited to Chamber member companies with fewer than 50 employees. Contact Meredith Manley, senior event manager, at mmanley@okcchamber.com or 405-297-8964 to reserve your booth space or to sponsor the event. Progress still needed on justice reform, CJAC director says

Although the United States continues to lead the world in the number of citizens under the authority of the criminal justice system, 2018 witnessed champions of justice reform across the county achieve victories in their relentless quest to successfully chip away at the injustice in America’s criminal justice system.

In Oklahoma, a report co-published by Oklahomans for Criminal Justice Reform and FWD.us shows the number of people entering Oklahoma prisons in 2018 grew 11 percent after a slight decline between 2016 and 2017. The bipartisan political organization that advocates for immigration and justice reform notes the influx of 10,777 prisoners admitted in 2018 by state corrections officials was “the highest single-year total of all time.”

“Although we’ve made much progress, there is still much work to be done in Oklahoma,” said Timothy Tardibono, executive director of the Oklahoma County Criminal Justice Advisory Council. “Whether it be the types and numbers of people being sent to prison, or the conditions the prison population experiences at the Oklahoma County Jail, the progress we see is steady but still slow. We know what the issues are; it’s time now to move forward and resolve them.”

Oklahoma County is the only county in the state without a county sales tax dedicated to funding its jail and daily criminal justice system. The two recently elected county commissioners say improvements at the county jail will be their top priorities. District 1 Commissioner Carrie Blumert and District 3 Commissioner Kevin Calvey both campaigned on the need to end overcrowding and improve conditions at the Oklahoma County jail.

Both commissioners called jail conditions, and criminal justice more broadly, one of the most urgent issues facing the county. Although both agree that a new facility is likely the best solution in the long term, the two commissioners said they hoped to pursue other ideas to improve conditions in the near term, including using MAPS 4 funds for something related to the jail or a holistic treatment center near the jail and exploring whether it makes sense to jail people accused of nonviolent offenses.

Tardibono says that nothing should be ruled out. “We are looking at a wide range of reforms,” he said. “Those reforms include the pretrial release process, governance, costs, fines and fees, booking and releasing low-level offenders or citing them and release like most municipalities do, and expediting the diversion determination before they are booked into the jail.”

Despite the statewide increase in prison populations, Tardibono says there are ongoing improvements in safely reducing the jail population in Oklahoma County. Tardibono says that the next steps are to continue to improve the justice system while the community imagines what a future facility looks like.

“The progress we see is steady but still slow. We know what the issues are; it’s time now to move forward and resolve them.”

- Timothy Tardibono, executive director of the Oklahoma County Criminal Justice Advisory Council.

“Previous discussions in our county have always been about building a bigger facility,” he said. “The current conversation is exploring whether it’s smarter to build smaller with the concept of a justice center that facilitates more options than we have in the current jail. Some of these other options could include ideas like quicker booking and release, on-site connection to local providers, a facility housing minimum and/or medium level offenders in appropriate settings and a hub for case monitoring and accountability. Those are the options other cities and counties are building into their new or renovated facilities and those are the solutions we need here to increase public safety and to interrupt the addiction cycle some of our neighbors are trapped in.”

Tardibono also hopes that the overdue justice reinvestment funding could be allocated in the upcoming legislative session. “That funding will provide much-needed services in Oklahoma County for addiction treatment and recovery. We are making progress and the big challenge is how to keep the momentum moving in the right direction.”

ECONOMIC INDICATORS

Oklahoma City Metro among top 20 most economically diverse in nation

- The Oklahoma City Metro area is the 18th most economically diverse metro area of 382 metros in the U.S., according to the Emsi industry diversity index.
- Even job distribution across industry clusters provides economic stability for a region. Diversity protects communities from the risks associated with dependency on any one industry’s performance.
- Primary job labor or “functional labor” is defined as employment in industries whose primary market is not their local one or are export-based industries.
